Owing to a disagreement between Mayor Weaver and Water Works Superintendent Lucas on Greenville's water proposition, the Mayor has asked for Mr. Lucas' resignation, to take place in thirty days, for the good of the city's interests. Nathan Fahnstock, the well known editor of the Versailles Leader, stole a march on his friends and coming to Greenville Sunday secured the necessary papers to wed Miss Leona J. Ligier of Versailles, the ceremony being pronounced Sunday morning. May joy, happiness and prosperity be theirs through life.

A runaway boy, 13 years old, named Robert Ross, who resides with his father near Lynn, Ind., was apprehended here last Thursday, he having rode the distance on a bicycle. He confided to one of our residents, who happened to notice him and who took an interest in him. The police authorities were consulted and his father notified, who came over in an automobile and took his son back home Thursday evening. The boy told the officers that his mother was dead and that he couldn't get along with his father, so concluded to run away.

Barney Blottman, who had been ailing with heart trouble for some time, died at about 3 o'clock last Monday morning in his home on East Third street. He was one of our best citizens, having been engaged in business here for more than fifty years, first in the grocery line and of late years conducting a china ware store. He accumulated some worldly goods, and at his death was quite well to do. He was of a quiet and unassuming nature and well liked by all his friends and acquaintances. He died at the age of 69 years, 11 months and 18 days. He was a prominent member and official of St. Mary's Catholic church and one of the late Father Brummer's closest friends. He leaves his wife, three daughters—Mayme, Anna and Irene; and four sons—William, Edward, Frederick and Lawrence. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at the Catholic church and burial made in the Catholic cemetery.

The grand jury was in session but one day this week and returned eight indictments, only five of which were made public, as follows: Reginald Buell, grand larceny; Newton Stead, burglary; Edward Wiles, burglary; Virgil Piatt, assault and battery; Clifford Good, forgery.

Walter E. Deitrick, a young farmer residing near Pittsburg, committed suicide Sunday morning by shooting himself through the heart. He had been despondent on account of poor health and had threatened to end his life. That morning he went upstairs and soon after his wife heard two shots, and immediately summoned neighbors, but before any medical aid could be administered death ensued. They had of late been staying with his father, Philip Deitrick, at Pittsburg, and made daily trips to their farm, and at the time he ended his life were on their regular mission there looking after the farm chores. He was in fear that bodily harm would befall him by imaginary enemies, hence they stayed with his father at night, and went to their home in daylight. The coroner was called and viewed the body. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning and burial made in the Mote cemetery.

Esther and Tina Green, aged respectively 12 and 15 years, daughters of Philip Green and wife of Union City, were taken before Juvenile Judge Bowman last week and declared to be dependents. It is stated that the parents are quite depraved and have of late been urging the little girls to associate with vile and vicious men and have been learned to drink intoxicants. Mrs. Green is their stepmother. The Greens formerly resided at Fort Recovery and it is said the girls left home and walked to Fort Recovery, where they were found by Humane Officer Williams and brought to this city and placed temporarily in care of the sheriff and his wife. The parents were arrested at Union City Thursday, as they were preparing to make their getaway, and were charged with contributing to the delinquency of these girls. The father, Philip Green, was placed under a $500 bond, which he failed to give and was placed in jail, while the mother gave $300 bond and was released from custody. An uncle of the girls, living in Mercer county, has agreed to take care of them and they were turned over to him. Samuel DeCamp was arrested in Van Wert and lodged in jail here Friday night charged with acting in a way tending to contribute to the delinquency of these girls and was placed under $500 bond, which he gave Saturday, and was released. Philip Green was also released Saturday on his own recognizance and on agreement that he would care for his wife and other children.

The Democratic Congress passed and President Wilson signed the legislation desired by the lemon producers of Italy and opposed by the lemon producers of America. This legislation was passed on the theory that it would give the American consumer lemons at a lower price. It had no such effect. It merely transferred a large part of the market to Italy, while California lemon growers found it difficult to sell their crop at a living price. The middle-man, who bought his lemons in Italy, merely made a larger profit and retailed the lemons to the consumer at the same old price.

The need of an import duty on lemons was demonstrated by Senator Works of California, in an address before the Senate a few days ago. Senator Works showed that even with the Republican tariff of 1½¢ a pound, foreign growers were able to compete with American producers and the government received a revenue of about $2,000,000 a year. The Underwood law reduced the duty to ½¢ per pound, this small measure of protection probably being retained because lemons are produced in Florida, one of the states of the Solid South.

When the Democrats were about to pass their bill retaining the duty on sugar, which is largely a product of the gulf states, Senator Works moved an amendment placing a duty of 1¢ per

An Insidious Free Trade Lobby.

Washington, April 26. (Special Correspondence)—As might be expected, Democrats in Congress have been very much embarrassed by recent disclosures regarding the "slush fund" raised by Italian lemon importers for the purpose of influencing tariff legislation in this country in 1913.

At the very time when President Wilson denounced as an "insidious lobby" the business men of the United States who were in Washington endeavoring to prevent legislation for the benefit of foreign producers, the lemon trust of Italy was spending $140,000 for the purpose of destroying the protective tariff on lemons to the injury of lemon producers in Florida and California, and for the benefit of lemon producers in Italy. President Wilson drove away from Washington the business men who were advocating "America first," but he had nothing to say in criticism of the men who were spending money to promote Italy first.

The Democratic Congress passed and President Wilson signed the legislation desired by the lemon producers of Italy and opposed by the lemon producers of America. This legislation was passed on the theory that it would give the American consumer lemons at a lower price. It had no such effect. It merely transferred a large part of the market to Italy, while California lemon growers found it difficult to sell their crop at a living price. The middle-man, who bought his lemons in Italy, merely made a larger profit and retailed the lemons to the consumer at the same old price.
